VISION

A community of resilient young women, inspired by greatness, actively shaping and influencing culture across various spheres of society.

MISSION

To Train young women to aim for more and help them discover their unlimited potential and pursue their dreams without fear.

OUR VALUES

Faith
Purpose

Excellence

OUR CREED

I am a Relevant Woman,
I am rooted in Christ and secure in my identity.
I aim for more and impact every space I enter.
I influence systems for good.
I am resilient, authentic, and filled with confidence that inspires greatness.
I am a relevant woman, I move with purpose, wisdom, and unwavering faith, always impacting my generation.

FOUNDER'S Address

I started The Relevant Woman feeling uncertain where this journey would take me, or even whether I was capable of carrying it. I didn't begin with sudden motivation. I received the vision. God definitely had you in mind. What an honour it is to steward this vision he has placed in my hands.

I didn't start with everything figured out either. In fact, I was mostly clueless. That cluelessness pushed me to ask questions, seek training, build structure, and grow in continual competence for the vision. I have grown in ways I never imagined because I chose to take a chance on this vision, I stretched, and that stretching brought me amazing people and opportunities I never would have thought to access or explore.

The Relevant Woman is a community of resilient young women inspired by greatness, actively shaping culture across different spheres of society. We do this by training young women to aim for more, discover their unlimited potential, and pursue their dreams without fear. That is why we started the academy. That is why we create our products. That is why we run every program. This is the drive behind everything we do.

Are you a young woman who needs a community that will encourage you to aim for more? Are you starting something and looking for people to collaborate with? Are you passionate about creating impact and offering solutions for the world? Do you want accountability and a place where you can grow in leadership, personal development, and business? Are you clueless right now, but you don't want to stay where you are?

Then The Relevant Woman community is for you.

IVEREN ANN LYAM Esq.

IWUESE T .EKANEM

To Our Future Leaders,

It is a profound privilege to welcome you to the maiden edition of our Academy Magazine and, more importantly, to a community committed to raising women who will lead with courage, competence, compassion, and character.

Every generation is presented with an opportunity to shape the future. I believe this season of your lives is no different. The world is waiting for women who will not merely occupy positions of influence but who will redefine leadership through integrity, excellence, service, and unwavering purpose.

As you embark on this journey, never underestimate the power of becoming before achieving. Embrace every opportunity to learn and grow.

Do not rush to have it all figured out, instead pay attention to what moves you, what troubles you enough to want to fix it, and what you find yourself returning to even when no one is watching or applauding. That quiet pull is often purpose, whispering. Do not be afraid of failure; it is often the classroom where resilience is built and greatness is refined. Invest in your character as diligently as you invest in your knowledge. Your greatest asset will never be your title, your qualifications, or your accomplishments alone, it will be your character. It is what sustains influence long after the applause has faded and is the foundation upon which lasting leadership is built.

Never underestimate the impact of your voice, your ideas, or your presence. Dare to dream boldly. Pursue excellence relentlessly. Be resilient in adversity, gracious in success, and humble enough to keep growing. Every challenge you encounter is preparing you for an assignment greater than yourself.

I want you to know you that you do not need to have every answer to begin. What you need is what you already carry, a willingness to learn, the courage to try and the character to keep going even when it's hard.

I encourage you to embrace every lesson this Academy offers with curiosity and discipline. Build your competence, deepen your resolve, and never compromise your values for temporary recognition. I am certain that among you are future CEOs, entrepreneurs, policymakers, innovators, educators, community builders, and global changemakers.

The future is not waiting to discover you. It is waiting for you to prepare for it.

Ayoyemi Oladimeji

Every generation is presented with an opportunity to shape the future. The difference is made by those who choose to lead with purpose, serve with integrity, and pursue excellence consistently.

As I reflect on the vision of The Relevant Woman, I am encouraged by its commitment to raising a generation of women who are equipped to lead, inspire, and create lasting impact in their families, communities, professions, and beyond. This mission is both timely and essential because our world needs leaders who are grounded in character as much as they are in competence.

To every young woman reading this, remember that your circumstances do not define your future. While your background may shape your journey, it is your character, preparation, resilience, and willingness to keep learning that will ultimately determine your impact.

Leadership is not conferred by a title or position. It is demonstrated through the decisions you make every day—choosing integrity when it is difficult, pursuing excellence when no one is watching, and serving others with humility and compassion. The habits you cultivate today will shape the opportunities you are entrusted with tomorrow.

Invest intentionally in your personal growth. Seek knowledge with curiosity, embrace mentorship with humility, and build meaningful relationships that challenge and inspire you. Never stop developing your skills or expanding your capacity to create value. Excellence is not a destination; it is a lifelong commitment.

There will be moments of uncertainty, disappointment, and setbacks. Do not allow these experiences to discourage you. Instead, let them strengthen your resolve and prepare you for greater responsibilities. Every challenge presents an opportunity to grow wiser, stronger, and more resilient.

One truth I have learned is this: lasting influence is not measured by what we achieve for ourselves, but by the lives we positively impact along the way. As you grow, remember to lift others, encourage those behind you, and leave every place better than you found it.

I commend The Relevant Woman for creating a platform where mentorship, leadership development, faith, purpose, and community come together to unlock the potential of young women. It is my hope that every woman who encounters this vision will discover not only what she is capable of achieving, but also the difference she is uniquely called to make.

Dream boldly. Lead courageously. Serve faithfully. Pursue excellence relentlessly.

The future belongs to those who prepare for it today, and I have every confidence that the next generation of transformational women is already rising.

May your journey be marked by purpose, integrity, and enduring impact.

The Power of Faithful Beginnings

One lesson life has taught me is that purpose rarely begins with grand stages or perfect conditions. More often, it begins with a simple "yes" to God.

Many women spend years waiting until they feel more qualified, more confident, or more prepared before stepping into what God has called them to do. Yet, when I reflect on my own journey, I realise that some of life's greatest opportunities came simply because I was willing to take the first step in faith.

Leadership is not about having all the answers; it is about being willing to serve, to learn, and to remain faithful with what God has placed in your hands today.

Excellence is not perfection, it is giving your very best with integrity, consistency, and a heart that honours God.

As women, we carry a unique ability to influence lives, nurture potential, and build legacies that extend far beyond ourselves. Whether in our homes, workplaces, businesses, ministries, or communities, every act of faithful service matters.

Never underestimate the power of small beginnings. The seeds you plant today, often in obscurity, may become the shade under which future generations will flourish.

Keep growing. Keep learning. Keep serving. And above all, remain anchored in God, for He is able to do immeasurably more than we could ever ask or imagine.

May your life continually reflect purpose, excellence, and unwavering faithfulness.
